COLUMBIA, ADAIR COUNTY, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, MAY 26, 1909.

NUMBER 29

The End of The Sixth Term.

The closing exercises of The Lindsey-Wilson Training School, last Monday, was largely attended and indicated the high esteem and deep appreciation of the people of this section, for those whose time and talents have been of inestimable worth in building and maintaining that institution of learning.

It is no exaggeration when we state that the year, just closed, was the most successful in the history of the school. The average attendance lead all previous years, while upright conduct on the part of the students, and the fact that the Lindsey-Wilson has succeeded in gaining a patronage from that class of people who desire advancement, mentally, morally and physically, all these lines of useful work the development can not be other than gratifying to all the students and their parents.

From the beginning to the close of the year there was no rowdism manifested on the part of any student, and up to the mark of hard work seemed to be the purpose of all. That this community and entire section of Southern Kentucky feels a great pride in The Lindsey-Wilson, that they thoroughly appreciate the ability and worth of Prof's Neilson and Moss as leaders and directors, and that the entire corps of teachers have measured up to a high standard, can not be questioned.

On last Sunday in the Methodist church Dr. Cherry, of Nashville, delivered the baccalaureate sermon which teemed with truths most useful. On Monday he addressed the graduating class and the large audience present to witness the closing exercises and his line of thought and reasoning, the key note to upright and useful living, were heartily enjoyed by all present. The graduating class composed of Messrs M. M. Murrell, Philip Williams, and Miss Lois Holladay, delivered their addresses in a highly creditable manner, and united to that intelligent audience deep thought and beautiful rhetoric—gems obtained by hard work and good training, a credit to themselves and an honor to their instructor. The music throughout the program was stirring and received hearty applause. Presents were received by the students, a token of friendship from the class, that each member truly enjoyed.

College Recitals.

On Friday evening the pupils of the chapel of the Lindsey-Wilson, were crowded to its utmost capacity. The stage was handsomely decorated with beautiful flowers, and the performers were at their best. The selection rendered were difficult, high-class music, given in a masterly manner, showing advancement and proving Miss Nell's ability as a teacher. While Miss Nell teaches piano music to perfection her favorite instrument is the violin, drawing from the softest and sweetest notes. During the evening Miss Nell and Miss Shannon sang a duet most beautifully which was highly complimented as well as a solo by Miss Shannon, accompanied by Miss Nell with violin. Miss Lina Rosefield, who is an accomplished pianist, rendered entertaining service at intervals during the rendition of the program. Judging the performances as a whole, it was one of the best entertainments of its character ever given by the school. The Columbia Orchestra assisted Miss Nell in the exercises, and many bouquets in the way of compliments were showered upon the members.

MISS SHANNON'S CLASS

Miss Lucile Shannon who has had charge of the literary and expression department for the past two years, proving herself to be an accomplished reader and instructor, was before a large audience Saturday evening with her class, and a most pleasing program was rendered. There were two plays in which humor and pathos abounded, each performer acting up to her part most admirably. Miss Shannon is an easy and natural reader and is an impersonator of wide reputation. She has instilled her gifts into the minds of many of her pupils, and an announcement that her class will be before the footlights is all that is necessary to insure a large audience.

All who took part in this entertainment as well as Miss Nell's, deserves special mention, but space will not permit to go into complete details. The Orchestra assisted Miss Shannon.

Both Miss Nell and Miss Shannon should feel proud of the progress made by their pupils. The program was certainly pleasing; and when these two teachers take their departure for their respective homes they will carry with them the best wishes of not only all their pupils, but those of the two principals, Neilson & Moss, and this entire community.

Broken Even.

One of the best games of Base Ball that has ever been played on home grounds was witnessed Saturday morning. Young pitched in good form, and was given good support by his team. Sheets for the Saints was batted with ease by the Frainers.

Not a Jar in Four Years.

We venture the assertion that there is not an institution of learning in Kentucky that has met with as smooth sailing as the Lindsey-Wilson Training School for four consecutive years. During that period the principals have been Prof. P. D. Neilson and Prof. R. Moss, who are thoroughly qualified gentlemen and who are perfectly at home in the school room. They are in the work because they love it, and for the further reason that they have adopted teaching as a profession for life. They are both disciplinarians, but they do not resort to extreme methods in order to control the school. They are firm in their decisions, and in making rulings it is done so smoothly and so gentlemanly that pupils have the utmost respect for them, and do their best to keep them inviolable. An even tempered teacher is not found in every school, but for four years good and effective work has been accomplished in the Lindsey-Wilson, peace and good will continuously reigning between teachers and pupils, a record that Prof. Neilson and Prof. Moss should be proud. Their places would be difficult to fill and we trust that they will continue with the school for many years yet to come. In making that statement we feel sure that they will receive the sentiment of the people of Columbia and of this section of Kentucky.

It is understood that the two first years have also successfully managed, being largely controlled by Prof. C. R. Payne and associates.

Circuit Court will continue through this week. In the case of Dr. U. L. Taylor, Health officer, on an appeal from the Fiscal Court, the jury disagreed. The Fiscal Court allowed Dr. Taylor $200 per annum for his services, but the fee in the judgment of the physician, was not a reasonable compensation, and he asked for $500. The Hon. Watkins will be asked now being tried.

To The Public.

The notice in last weeks issue announcing that Mr. Mont Feesee would open up a job office in this town, in the near future, was to some extent, misleading, as some understood it to mean that The News had cut out that department. It was not intended to mislead, but that every reader may fully understand the facts, I make the following statement:

The News does not intend to voluntarily surrender any part of its business and means to give better service and better values in every department, if it can. Mr. Feesee has been employed in this office for nearly four years and received the best salary that the business could afford, but taking the view that "there's millions in it", severed his connection for the purpose of doing business under the caption of The Feesee Printery. To all of my customers, and others who need job-work, I desire to say that The News Job Office will keep in stock a large assortment of printer's goods, a competent up-to-date job man and will seek work on the same high plane as in the past, promising good values, honest prices and your work as you want it. Mr. Feesee left on his own volition, but his leaving will not disturb the business of the office. Mr. Woodruff Flowers, who is an artistic printer and designer, is now in charge of the job department and no one need fear a botch job. With malice toward none, and a determination to push my business to a greater success, I am Yours truly, C. S. Harris.

Who Be He?

Behold the stranger at the gate preparing to expatiate on things political, small and great. If while you hold yourself and wait you hear the gentle man relate how parties now hold legislative to save the country, town and state. If he is always up-to-date with all opponents strictly straight, but running at a rapid rate to win the race as sure as fate, was never heard to quarrel and likes us all so much of late, He will tell you the Can-di-date. J. T. Jones, Montpelier.

He Will Be Missed.

Dr. Sam R. Bass, who was an elegant, polished gentleman, long a resident of Campbellsville, one of the best known citizens of Taylor county, died at his late home last Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. He had long been a druggist and a physician of Campbellsville. His gentlemanly manners, his influence for the betterment of his fellowmen, his love for the religion as taught by the Word of God, were some of the marks of his character from youth to old age. He passed the 73rd mile post and is now waiting for his loved ones. All honor to his name, sympathy for the bereaved family.

Death of a Good Citizens.

Mr. Sam Collins, a well-known citizen of this county, his late home being about three miles from Columbia, on the waters of Disappointment, died last Thursday night between eight and nine o'clock. He was sick about two weeks, his condition being critical from the beginning of his illness.

The deceased was about sixty years old; was an industrious farmer and a good neighbor.

He leaves a wife and four children, all of whom have the sympathy of the entire neighborhood.

The deceased was a God fearing man and was ready for the dissolution.

Religious exercises were held at the home and the interment was in the family burying ground, many relatives and friends attending.

The deceased was a member of the Methodist Church, but the funeral services were conducted by Eld. F. J. Barger.

The basket dinner of the Methodist church announced for next Sunday at the Lindsey-Wilson will be held at 11 o'clock. But next Sunday and Monday will be Quarterly meeting.

Hunter-Williams.

A few days ago Mr. Wm. B. Hunter, son of Mrs. and Mrs. J. J. Hunter, of Snyder, Texas, was married to Miss Bessie Williams, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gur Williams, Quana, Texas.

The contracting parties being under age, they stole a march on their parents and went to Childers, Texas, where the rites were solemnized. The groom is about twenty years of age and left this county with his parents for Texas about two years ago.

The bride comes from one of the best families in Quana, and is about 17 years old.

Will Hunter sprung from honorable parentage, and if he possesses the same business tact as does his father, there is nothing to keep him from making his mark in the business affairs of any community in which he may reside.

The groom's many friends in Adair county send greetings.

We visited the city cemetery last Sunday and noticed for the first time the lot in the new addition purchased by the Masonic Fraternity of this place. In our judgment its dimensions furnishes ample room for sixty graves. The committee appointed to look after the lot has recently had a nice curbing placed around it, and at the corners and at the entrance emblems of the order are nicely carved. The lot is a monument to an institution that has for its cardinal principles, love for God, care for the widow and the orphan and to give the dead a decent burial.

Rev. John H. Carpenter, of Jackson, Miss., delivered a very able and thoughtful sermon at the Methodist Church last Sunday night. In 1883-4 Mr. Carpenter, then an orphan boy, was a resident of Adair county and was in College in Columbia, and is kindly remembered by many citizens of this place. The church was crowded with people who were anxious to hear him. His subject, "Principles, love for God, and it was the most logical and comforting discourse delivered in this town for many moons.

Arm Broken.

Roy, a fourteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Ranser, met with a serious accident last Sunday afternoon. He had gone to an oak grove with a number of boys and they were playing climbing trees, etc. Roy climbed a tree and some of his playmates started after him, and in going from limb to limb Roy stepped on a dead one which broke, and he was precipitated to the ground, breaking his left arm below the elbow. Dr. Cartwright was called and reduced the fracture.

The meeting at the Methodist church at Caney Valley closed last Sunday night with six conversions and six additions to the church. A collection was taken for Home and Foreign Missions Sunday night which amounted to $55.00. There was very fine order maintained throughout the meeting, best ever known here. Bro. Tally is a good preacher, and gave us some of the pure unadorned gospel which revived the church, and done much good to all who heard him and we hope that God may let him live long and bless him in many more meetings.

Dirigo.

Corn planting will soon be a thing of the past in this section.

Earl, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Campbell was very sick a few days last week, but is thought to be some better at this writing.

W. H. Roysse left last Friday for Pleasant Hill, Ill. He intends to spend the work season there and to return home about X-mas.

Sam Garmon and wife, Sparksville, visited at J. J. England's last week.

D. T. McKinney, left last Friday for Jeffersonville, Ind., where he has a job in the car shop.

The people of Dirigo are peaceable, God fearing people and do not like to hear the noise of heavy sledges pounding the rocks in the creek on Sundays. There has for the past few Sundays been gangs from other neighborhoods coming to Harrodsford to fish. Some with hook and line and others with heavy sledge hammers. Now boys, who ever you may be, just stop a moment and think. It is alright to fish on other days, but looks heathenish to be fishing on Sunday. So please do not do so any more.

Crocus.

Mr. David Ragan, who has been confined to his room with the fever is somewhat better.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Loy visited at J. W. Vaughan's Sunday.

Died on the 2nd, the infant of Mr. and Mrs. P. Morgan.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edwards, Bomville, visited the latter's parents a few days ago.

McGaha.

Uncle John Kimbler is in bad health at this writing.

We had a fine rain yesterday.

Most all of the farmers in this community are through planting corn.

Mr. Luther Aaron, of this place, started for Indiana one day last week his future home.

J. A. McGaha was visiting A. B. McGaha Sunday.

Mr. J. Neat and wife were visiting Mr. Tom Wheat Saturday night and Sunday.

Thurlow.

The health of this community is good at present.

We are having a very disagreeable blackberry winter this week.

The frost on the night of the 1st inst., did a great deal of damage to gardens and corn that was up. The corn and Irish potato tops are growing out again.

The whole of last week was fair and fine weather for work, and our farmers moved along rapidly with their work. A majority have finished planting corn and are now preparing tobacco ground.

The quarterly meeting at Mt. Lebanon on the 8th and 9th was well attended, especially on Sunday. Bro. Hulise was on hand and as he usually does, preached three splendid sermons.

Messrs. Robt. and Silas Wilson, of Moody, visited at Mr. James P. Brown's from Saturday till Monday.

Mr. Archie Paxton and his sister, Emma, Rollingburg, attended quarterly meeting here last Saturday and Sunday and visited Mr. J. E. Loy.

Mr. Robert Moss, wife and children, of Greensburg, were guests of Mr. Richard Henderson and family from Saturday till Monday and attended church at Mt. Lebanon Sunday.

The continued down pour of rain Sunday afternoon kept a number of visitors with their hats, over night in this and adjoining communities.

Mr. Nathan Bridgewater, of Gresham, has been in this section this week looking for hogs and cattle.

Willie Strader and wife attended the marriage of the former's sister, Miss Verdie Strader, to a Mr. Whitlock at Exie Sunday afternoon.

The Wrong Line.

Two telephone girls were talking over the wire one afternoon.

The subject of the conversation was a lawn party which was to take place the next day. Both were discussing what they should wear and after five minutes had come to no decision. In the midst of this important conversation a masculine voice interrupted, asking humbly what number he had.

The lack of any reply did not squelch the inquirer, for he asked again for the number. One of the girls became indignant and scornfully asked:

"What line do you think you are on, anyhow?"

"Well," said the man, "I am not sure; but, judging from what I have heard, I should say I was on a clothesline."

Senator Bradley introduced an amendment to the tariff bill, which he believes will give relief to the tobacco growers.

There is a great difference in the purposes to which a laxative should be put. Tablets and pills, salts, etc., are usually violent purgatives or cathartics, and altogether too powerful for the average person.

A woman at all times needs only a mild laxative—in fact, none other than they may be, for the object is simply to move the bowels, and if a gentle laxative will do it, what is the use of a violent one?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has earned a well-deserved name among women and children and old folks—people who must necessarily be careful of what they take. It is a liquid laxative tonic and admitted by the greatest of what they take and bowel remedy before the American people. The price is only 25 cents a bottle, as it comes in both sizes, and all druggists sell it. Its pleasant taste and gentle action make it an ideal remedy for women in constipation, torpid liver, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn and such like digestive complaints. Its use for a short time will remove the trouble entirely so that future constipation will be unnecessary. Its tonic properties build up the stomach and intestinal muscles so that they act naturally again. That this is so is the experience of many families, like Mrs. Brannan, of Alvarado, Va.; Mrs. K. L. Scott, of E. W. Monroe, of that place, writes, the whole town seems to be using it.

If this remedy is new to you and you want to make a trial of it, send your name to the doctor's address as below and a free sample will be sent you. Then, if results are satisfactory you can buy it of your own druggist.

There is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service.

The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 500 Caldwell Bldg., Montebello, Ill.

Miss Caroline D. Steele, of Kentucky, had been appointed chief maid-of-honor for the Confederate reunion of Memphis.

Good Advice.

My son, follow not in the footsteps of the loafer, and make no example of him who is born tired, for verily I say unto you, their business is overstocked; the seats on the corners are all taken and whittling places are all occupied. It is better to saw wood at two bits a cord than to whittle in a loafing match and cuss the government. My son, while thou has left in thy skull the sense of a jay bird, break away from the cigarette habit, for it, thy breath stinketh like a glue factory and thy whole appearance is less intelligent than a store dummy; yea, thou art a clipper with the rine knocked off.—Ex.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

FOR JAILER.

We are authorized to announce C. G. Jeffries, a candidate for Jailer of Adair county, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

The fact that political parties are the organized channels through which our officials are selected and that no party can absolutely control the people and mark their rule of action, in the selection of men for positions of honor and trust, are becoming more apparent every year to the great bulk of our citizens. It is a further fact that the adherents of both the Democratic and Republican parties are fast gaining in independence of thought and actions and that the day is approaching when intelligent men will cease to rally 'round their party banner when the party leaders are not in accord with upright political living. Every man identified with a political organization must feel a pride in its worthy achievements, and if conscientious, must feel humiliated when degrading methods are employed or when incompetent or unworthy members of the party are placed in responsible and honorable positions. That the great bulk of the intelligent people desire competent men and clean politics can hardly be doubted, but too often party zeal and second-handed ambition override judgment and conscience and the bad as well as the good, the incompetent as truly as the qualified, receive the same loyal party support and are placed in positions of great importance to the general public. We hold that honor and honesty, sobriety and unquestioned capacity are prerequisites for every official from Magistrate to Governor and that there is no excuse to justify the election of a man of bad morals, or a political corruptionist. Party tickets are often dead-weighted through party primaries and conventions brought about by methods destructive of honor and fairness, and when such happens is not only bad for the party but for the entire section involved. "Every thing is fair in politics" will not and can not be accepted by those who truly desire the advancement of their country or the standing of their party. The love of country ought to prompt every man in securing the best officials possible. Every one ought to stand for a fair deal and where reputable methods are employed should be severely rebuked at the polls. An incompetent in a political position is no better than the one in a private business and dishonesty in politics is no less a grievous sin than swindling in business.

Mr. W. A. Carnes, of Rowena, has announced himself a candidate for Magistrate in his district, subject to the action of his party. He speaks in unmistakable language that he is for a road tax and it judiciously applied. While a stranger to us, out of our county and a Republican besides, yet his progressive and aggressive position is exactly to our notion and ought to meet the hearty endorsement of the people of his county. The most vital question that confronts the Southern tier of Kentucky counties is the road question. If this section ever liberates its people from the terrible bad roads it will forge to the front in leaps and bounds. If it continues to dodge a road tax and keep its fearful highways it can never hope to reach a high degree of development. It would be a pleasure to us to know that not only Mr. Carnes, but an entire court of his county would be made of his mind and determination on this important question, and the same necessity for such men is this county exists.

It is generally known that dissatisfaction has prevailed in this the 16th Senatorial District among the Republicans since the date had been unjustly treated. As matters now stand Mr. Phelps has recourse before the State Central Committee.

In the Republican primary held in Louisville last week, Mr. James E. Grinstead easily won the nomination for Mayor. It is reported that money was used lavishly both by Mr. Grinstead's workers and also the workers of Mr. Smith. Mr. Will Nick Vaughan, born and reared at Greensburg and well-known in Columbia, was nominated for County Judge. The nominations are not equivalent to an election, and many believe that after next November the city government of Louisville will be controlled by Democrats.

Mr. Vanzant's Card of Withdrawal.

Edmonton, Ky, May 17, 1909. To the Republicans of the 29th Judicial District:

I have decided to withdraw from the race for Commonwealth Attorney. I entered this race with strong faith in my ability to win the nomination and still believe I should have, by all rules of fairness, won over my date of the two conventions held in Jamestown when two candidates were nominated for the State Senate—L. T. Neat, of Adair county, and Lilburn Phelps, of Russell county. A majority of the committeemen in the district met in this place last Thursday afternoon to decide which one of the gentlemen was entitled to the nomination, his name to go under the log cabin. All the proceedings held in the primary meetings and in the Convention held at Jamestown in which L. T. Neat was nominated, were read by W. A. Coffey. A motion then prevailed that the committee, composed of W. A. Coffey, Adair; W. A. Dickson, Clinton; and C. H. Carter, of Cumberland, no other committee-man being present, go into executive session. In a few minutes a report was read, declaring Hon. L. T. Neat, of Adair, the Republican nominee for the State Senate from the 16th Senatorial district, his name to go under the log cabin. Hon. Lilburn Phelps was in Columbia, but he did not attend the meeting of the committee, claiming that he had not received a notification of the Committee being called together. The reader understands that Mr. Phelps and his friends withdrew from the Jamestown convention regularly called, and that he was nominated in a second convention, the claim being that Russell's candidate had been unjustly treated. As matters now stand Mr. Phelps has recourse before the State Central Committee.

It is reported that money was used lavishly both by Mr. Grinstead's workers and also the workers of Mr. Smith. In cutting the race, I desire it distinctly understood that I have the kindest of feelings for every republican in the District, and, as I am yet a young man, I hope to retain your friendship and good will and if I can only have this, I will hope that fortune will some day favor me.

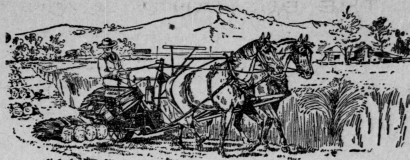

Thanking my friends who offered to aid and stand by me in the race and regretting that I find it necessary to take this step, I am

Kendall, Ky. May 14th, 1909.

Mr. W. B. Handy, Miami, Ky.

Yours of the 7th to hand in which the stand we propose to sell is at the mouth of Little Indian creek at a ferry and good steam boat landing, lower end of the Long Bottom on a four acre lot, extending from the county road to the river which furnish ample room for garden, &c. We have a connection from house to house by telephone besides our business line up the river, which is not interfered with by private lines.

The next dam on the river will be liable to be put in about this place, as it is about 66 miles to Burnside and dam they are building now is about one half that distance. This will make it a permanent channel for boats, &c. We have the best road to the river we know.

What Part of our Character is Made by Nature?

BY SURROUNDING CONDITIONS, ETC.

BY MATTHEW TAYLOR:

This subject was given to me some time ago by Bro. J. V. Dudley with a request that I make a talk on it some day in Sunday School. I cheerfully agreed to do so on the spur of the moment, not thinking of the task I had assumed, or my utter incompetency to perform it. However, feeling it to be my duty to try to do anything that may be considered good for our Sunday School, our neighborhood or our country, I considered the subject to some extent, and on one occasion tried to say something relative to it, but failed to present my thoughts as I wished to do, and consequently I have written out more fully what I think about it, and if you will be patient for a short time I will try to read to you what has occurred to my mind. In the first place where good morals and genuine desire for the happiness and prosperity of others are cultivated, where truth, honesty and content reign supreme, and where a disposition is cultivated in the mind of the child, or children, to seek that home where it is said "The wicked cease from troubling, and the weary shall find rest."

Now my definition of the child's home is given altogether from the teachings of my mother and father and my sad experience in disregarding them. While I was not very immoral I was not truly so moral as I should have been. As to the happiness and prosperity of others I took no thought from the fact it was never presented to me in such a way as to draw my attention. I was taught that it was my duty to do unto others as I would have them do unto me, which I suppose would have covered the ground, but I paid very little attention to it for a long time. I always had a particular reverence for truth and honesty, but frequently butchered both considerably when considered in a moral and religious sense. I was not content because I thought it required wealth to purchase contentment and ease in this world and never until rather late in life did I find out that a sufficiency with peace of mind was more to be valued than great riches. The Bible was always pointed out as the book of books that taught the way to Heaven where eternal joys awaited every one who obeys its precepts, but an impression was made at the same time that there was no connecting link between the joys of earth and Heaven, and consequently thinking if I was one of the elect I was safe, if not I was irredeemably lost, I disregarded the admonitions of conscience and the solicitations of friends.

The reason I refer to myself in this instance is because I have been so careless myself through life that I felt it would be best to acknowledge my own imperfections before attempting to give advice to others.

It seems to me that the definition I have given of the child's home is suggestive of what its training should be. In the first place the child should be taught to be kind and polite to all with whom it comes in contact, not to use profane or vulgar language, to be truthful and honest under any and all circumstances, and that to act thus is not the best for it in this life only but will aid greatly in making preparation for a home where the troubles and mortifications inherent in our natural bodies will cease and where universal peace and happiness will prevail. This brings to mind the fact that every parent is a teacher, and is responsible to his child, to his country and his God, for its proper moral and religious training. It also brings to mind the thought as to how little pains are frequently taken to prepare the young for parental duties. In order that the parents may perform their duty properly it is necessary that they should know the position they occupy and its responsibilities. They should know at least, that the child or children under their care are in possession of two states of existence, a worldly existence in which they can best enjoy the world by making preparation for that spiritual existence promised to the faithful in the spiritual world beyond the grave. They should know also that there are two states of infancy through which all children pass, one from birth to the years of accountability and the other from the age of accountability to the years of manhood and womanhood.

They should know likewise that the soul is an angle and that an angle is no more than an unbodied mind, that the mind will seek such surroundings in the spiritual world as it enjoys most in this, and that the foundation must be laid in the first stage of infancy on which the moral and religious character must be erected during the second stage and that in order to build up such characters as their moral and religious duties demand it requires example, patience and perseverance to accomplish their designs. They cannot accomplish anything by telling their children that it is wrong to talk in a disrespectful way of their neighbor and at the very first opportunity, and that too in the presence of their children, commence a tirade on the character of their neighbor just to the extent they are prompted by prejudice, selfishness or jealousy and just to the extent they are actuated by either magnifying his misfortunes or judging harshly of his actions thereby creating a prejudice in the minds of their children which is never eradicated, but is carried on from generation to generation forgetting the old adage that in judging of others "we should employ the spirit of charity and candor, but in judging ourselves we should be exact and severe." Now as to patience and perseverance it seems to me we have a very good example given by nature in the history of a worm of which it is said when it wishes to change its state in the world it crawls into a suitable place, envelopes itself with a covering and thus puts itself into a womb that it may be born again and goes on through the different stages till it is clothed with wings and able to fly abroad and nourish itself with sweet food from flowers.

JAKE

Will make the Season at my Barn, Montpelier Ky., at $6 to Insure a Living Colt.

JAKE is a bay stallion, 15½ hands high, very handsome, and possesses wonderful substance, speed and durability, and, the most perfect disposition of any horse I have ever owned or handled. He is sound in every particular, and will measure up to your demands, if you want to raise an all-purpose horse. His breeding combines the highest class of trotters, tracing to the great Hambletonian 10, on both sides, in the second generation. Hambletonian, 10, is conceded to be the greatest sire of trotters either living or dead, and Jake only being twice removed from him makes him, beyond question, a horse of rare breeding.

In every instance, money is due when colt is foaled, mare traded, removed or bred to other stock. All care taken to prevent accidents, but not responsible should any occur.

Wm. Parr—England's oldest married the third time at 120, worked in the fields till 132 and lived 20 years longer. People should be youthful at 80. James Wright, of Spurlock, Ky., shows how to remain young. "I feel just like a 16-year-old boy," he writes, "after taking six bottles of Electric Bitters. For thirty years Kidney trouble made life a burden, but the first bottle of this wonderful medicine convinced me I had found the greatest cure on earth. They're a godsend to weak, sickly run down or old people. Try them. 50c at Paul's Drug Co.

DR. E. M. TRABUE.

Dr. B. M. Trabue, notice of whose critical illness of paralysis was made in last week's edition of this paper, peacefully passed away at his home in Allensville Thursday night April 15. About two weeks before he had sustained the fatal stroke, and his condition from the very first was exceedingly grave. Death had been expected for several days.

Dr. Trabue was born in Adair county on June 3, 1827. He was educated for his profession at the old Transylvania University, Lexington, and in November, 1853, married Miss Fannie Sale of Allensville. He had made Allensville his home for 58 years, with the exception of several years spent in Christian county. Nine children were born of his marriage, and all, with the exception of one who died in infancy, survive him, with together his wife. They are: Will H. Trabue, of New York City; Dr. L. P. Trabue, of Elkton; Mrs. E. U. Bland, of Christian county; Mac Trabue, of Christian county; Mrs. H. B. Gray, of Hardin county, and Misses Lizzie, Mattie and Etta Trabue. Besides these are thirteen grandchildren, there never having been a death among either his children or grandchildren with the exception of the one child who died in infancy.

Dr. Trabue was a successful physician, a genial and kindly gentleman, a member of the Baptist church and a life-long Mason. The funeral services were conducted at Mt. Gilead Baptist church, Allensville, Friday afternoon. The remains were taken to Pembroke Saturday morning for interment.—Todd County Paper.

Dr. Ben McDowell Trabue was born in Columbia June 3, 1827. The little family room with its quaint fire place, and small door and window on either side remains unchanged in Mr. Joe Coffey's house.

He removed with his father, step-mother, and sisters to the then new Trabue place, April 1838. This is the same old "Willow Glen" the present home of his three living sisters. The old haunts of his childhood were dear to his memory to the very last. One morning when very thirsty he said he was so tired, that he had traveled all night for a drink of water from the little spring in the woods at the old home.

He was the youngest of five children of William Trabue and Elizabeth McDowell. He had nine sisters and one brother who lived to be grown, all of whom were members of the Columbia Baptist Church. He joined this church while quite young, and is remembered here by a few old people as a social, strictly moral young Dr. and Surgeon. He was a godly man who delighted in the spiritual work of the church and was a teacher in the Allensville Sunday School 35 years.

Many years of great physical pain developed that sweet patience and loving trust, that so set him apart from the sordid and worldly; that he seemed more like a gentle citizen of heaven than of earth. In that happy land where all pain and sorrow are exchanged for joy and gladness, he sings the new songs with a rapture surpassing the lovely songs and earnest prayers that charmed and blessed those who heard him here.

Quite a number of our people attended the singing at Big Creek church last Sunday and we must say we don't remember of ever enjoying an occasion any better. The singing was conducted by Profs. Keltner and Moss. The class at that church is well trained and understands music, and the best of all is that the good people of that community prepared a nice dinner for the occasion which was enjoyed by all present. The day was pleasantly spent.

Mr. Brud Walker, the well-known farmer, and trader and merchant, and an all-round good fellow any way you take him was in our town one day last week and informed us that some time in the near future he wanted to have an all-day singing at his church on Leatherwood Creek near Nell, to be conducted by Profs. Keltner, Moss and other good singers, and of course there will be plenty of good dinner on the ground. The good waiters of that section together with the good singers will make the day pleasant for all.

Mrs. Sallie Walker, of Columbia, spent last week visiting the family of Mr. J. D. Walker, of our city.

The recent rains that we have had in the last few days got a hustle on our farmers in the right way, and we must say that we never heard of as much tobacco set out in the same length of time as there has been in this section. We feel safe in saying that there has been as much as one hundred acres set, and only a few of them have their entire crops set. We are glad to say that every farmer has set a part of his crop. We hear some complaint of a scarcity of plants at the present. We take it that in a few days there will be sufficient plants for every farmer to finish his crop.

On the 5th Sunday in this month Rev. Crawford, of Columbia, will preach at Union church. We will have an all-day service with dinner on the ground. The public in general has a special invitation to attend, and we will assure you one thing that you will hear some good preaching, and we have plenty of good water at the church. We are looking forward for an enjoyable day. Remember the time and place and everybody come.

Editor News:— Please find enclosed $1.40 for one year subscription for the News and balance on Spectator, as I must have the News from my birthplace, if some of it is sad.

I see from the News of the 12, that the mansion in which I was born, 71 years ago, the first day of February last, has been razed by ruthless hands, perhaps to be replaced by something more modern. When I was in Columbia at the "Home Coming" Esq. Eubank piloted me through the building and I dropped a tear up on the floor, when I thought of the many changes that had taken place since 1838.

My father and mother, brothers and sisters have all passed away, and now the little house down in the corner of the square is torn down and I alone am left, but I have good health—a pleasant family and a beautiful home just out-side of a beautiful little city in south eastern Kansas, where I would be glad to see any of my old friends of my boyhood days.

Jordan Peacock

Will charge you only $15 for the best colt you ever saw. Just look at a few of the sales of his colts since last Fall. Seven-suckling colts to W. S. Haynes, of Clarkdale, Mo., for $100 to $150; two to Moody, Tex., for $1,000, and Highland Peacock to parties at Springfield, Mo., for $800; Charley Cabell, one to Tennessee parties for $1,000; A. L. Foley, one for $500; J. T. Page, one for $300; Sam Mackin, one to Captain Hampton, of Washington, D. C., a fine saddle gelding, for $300; J. F. Pendleton, one to Lebanon parties, 2-year-old gelding, for $300. This horse was sold to parties at Jeffersonville, Ind.,

for fancy price, and he is liked so well over in that State that I have received letters from several parties there that they were going to send some mares to Jordan in a few days. T. M. Wilson sold a mare recently bred and raised by W. E. Hills, to parties in the State of Pennsylvania, for $1,000; Mr. Monday sold one yearling for $325, and this is not all the sales since last Fall, but enough to show you that you ought to breed to Jordan and get a colt that will bring from two to four times as much as any others.
